RE: Two Unsung Heroes

Dear Lisa:

There are two ladies working as "housekeepers" at the Willows. To me, they are much more than just "housekeepers", although they do their job excellent as such. I personally believe, as do Rasty (my little friend) they offer a service along with housekeeping which excels them far and above others. This, as I have noticed does not interfere or slows them down performing their regular chores. It enhances their relationship with residents in this wonder community, as it has with Rasty and myself.

Case in point:

Today I put our soiled comforter in the wash thinking it would be washed and dried before these two wonderful ladies would come by to clean our apartment and make our bed. I put the comforter in the dryer twice and forgot it.

I went on with the wonderful activities at the Willows and had lunch giving no thought to the comforter and the apartment being cleaned.

It wasn't until I got to the apartment I realized what I had forgotten. Oh my Gosh, I let the ladies down after all they have done in the past.

The floor looked great, everything was nice and neat. I went to the bedroom. GUESS WHAT? There was the COMFORTER!

WOW!

Thoose two wonderful ladies:

MARY BALETO

and

JOSIE JACKSON

WORKED THE MAJIC AGAIN!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

I feel they should at least be recognized for all the wonderful and caring things they do. They surely must enjoy being here or all the love they show wouldn't come out.

Thanks for listenting:
